NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

TO MOTHERS.

In a ccuntry where the rearing of infants is attended with somewhat exceptional difficulties and risk owing partly to climatic reasons, and partly to the difficulty of getting medical assistance in the 'camp,' an apology is hardly needed for publishing a small hand-book on the subject for the use of mothers. In Dr. Pennel's book on Infant Feeding an attempt has been made to explain in simple terms the reasons on which the various rules and recommendations are based, in order that a mother in modifying her child's diet from time to time as required, may be guided by common sense and not by the hundred and one conflicting counsels, with which she will be assailed. On sale at all bookstalls and libraries.

THE VENEZUELAN DIFFICULTY.

There are so few who know the real facts of the case that have given rise to this great question that it affords us much pleasure to give our readers the following short sketch of the crisis.

The boundary difficulty between Great Britain and Venezuela generally speaking has been in existence just a hundred years, but the incident which led to the present very strained relations is a matter of comparatively recent occurrence. Pending the settlement of the question as to the frontier of British Guiana it was agreed that the area in dispute should be regarded as neutral territory, but, not content with establishing settlements upon this tract of country, the Venezuelans at the beginning of this year rushed across the river Cuyuni into territory that had been proclaimed as belonging to Great Britain in 1886. Some time previously Venezuelans had been found cutting timber on the British side of the river and had been warned off. This happened several times and the authorities at Georgetown, the capital of British Guiana, were informed of the occurrence. By their orders Inspector Barnes with a handful of men was told to occupy the hill where the Venezuelans were in the habit of working, whenever they vacated it, and to post sentries on it. He and his men were to remain there until they were forcibly obliged to quit, and in the event of that occurring they were to return to their station without forcibly retaliating. These were rather difficult orders for an Englishman with any spirit to obey, but the inspector swallowed his feeling and retired under protest on several occasions before display of force by the Venezuelans Then came a day when he was informed that the Venezuelan flag was flying on the hill. This was too much and the inspector and two sentries promptly went out and hauled the flag down and hoisted the British flag in its place. This brought over a Venezuelan officer with twenty armed men who informed Inspector Barnes that he and his men were his prisoners. The Inspector warned him that they were British officials on British territory, but that made no difference: the sentries were disarmed and the party were forcibly taken across the river to a Venezuelan town where they were confined in a small room. They were joined a little later by the other officials of the British station who had been arrested by the Venezuelans who had also stolen all the arms and ammunition to be found and hauled down the English flag.

The English prisoners were subsequently given their liberty on parole.

That night a number of their captors went across to the British station again, stole all the clothes and money they could find, smashed the furniture and fittings and got scandalously drunk, many of them sleeping all night where they fell down among the debris. A week or two later the Englishmen were sent to another town where they were informed that they were to be released at once. They were not actually ill-treated, but one British subject who was not arrested with them was tied up to a tree by a mob of the diminutive Venezuelan soldiery and flogged with a rope. It is for this outrage upon the English officials that Lord Salisbury is demanding an indemnity of £12,000 from the Venezuelan Government and as he has also probably given them the alternative of paying up or being made to do so despite the Monroe doctrine, the chances are that the money will be paid.

OUR LONDON LETTER.

BLACK' 96.

(From our own Correspondent)

Jan. 3rd.

Victoria 1st was Queen, and the Right Hon. the Marquess of Salisbury Prime Minister. The noblest and highest in the fair lands of England, Scotland and Ireland filled the ranks of the Government controlling the destinies of a nation in the van of nineteenth century civilisation. But lo! there was much gold-getting in those days. There were many interests to consult. Many private charters to respect—charters in which dukes allied to the royal family, together with belted earls and colonial pashas, were deeply concerned. Behold! in high places anarchy reigned, while the lowly toiled blindly to fill the coffers of the State.

The enemies of the nation were gathering like vultures from the North and the South, from the East and from the West, when in a distant dependency named Becuhanaland an Edinburgh medical gentleman called Jameson, administrator of the Chartered Company, found himself accidentally in command of a troop of 700 horsemen on the western border of a friendly state. Curious to relate, there was another and smaller troops of 300 horsemen which was also by accident stationed in a different part of the friendly nation's frontier. The state is known as the Transvaal, or South African Republic. Dr. Jameson's troop was only 150 miles from a place called Johannesburg, rich in neighbouring gold mines, and though belonging to the South African Government, peopled for the most part by English, American, German and Australian adventurers. Dr. Jameson, who as a man, is beloved and beyond suspicion, had heard that the foreign population of this city was being persecuted and shot down by the Transvaal Government. He was an old and cherished comrade of many in Johannesburg. He was indeed the bosom friend of Kruger, the President of the Republic, whose life he had once saved. New Year's Day was approaching and the gallant Scot's heart warmed towards his friends in trouble, so he gave the order to "saddle up"! 'Come what may' he said, 'and a bawhee for the law of nations. I'll relieve these fellows in Johannesburg.' Now it came to pass that when the Queen and her grand vizier in London, and the Grand Pasha in South Africa, and Sir Hercules in Cape Town heard of these things so unthought of! so unexpected! there was much rending of garments. One honest, and in this case innocent, minister who had charge of the Colonial Department in London sent off peremptory orders to Sir Hercules Robinson, the British High Commissioner in South Africa, to recall Jameson. But the wires were not in good order, and Jameson with his troop of 700 blacks—Bechuana police—well sprinkled with English adventurers, amongst whom were Sir J. W. Willoughby of the Guards, and the two Hon. Mr. Whites, scions of a recently enobled Irish family, was well on his way to Johannesburg before the messengers overtook him. He had started from a place on the frontier called Mafeking. He was timed to reach Johannesburg in about three days and a half. A march of 40 miles a day. At that speed, say our military anthorities, he could hardly have carried with him a reserve of ammunition. It was a mad act in any case, but it is charitable to suppose that Mr. Jameson expected to be joined by the nitlanders in revolt, when he and his tired horses and troopers arrived in the neighbourhood of Johannesburg. When the messengers overtook him he was ten miles past the Elans river. The troops were in the act of saddling up. Jameson read the despatches and gave a verbal answer that "he would attend to them." But on they went. The Boers under General Joubert, better informed than our anarchical Government, were thoroughly prepared. They are supposed to have been in the proportion of two to one to Jameson's little force. Besides they knew their ground and had well planted their riflemen and Krupp guns at a place called Krugersdorp about fifteen miles from Johannesburg. They had measured their ground and knew the killing distance of every ball as the weary troopers came up. No assistance came from Johannesburg. The branch railway from this place to Krugersdorp had been torn up by the Boers. The first shot was fired at 4 o'clock on New Year's Day. The encounter as far as we know through Transvaal sources was hot and lasted for three or four hours. Jameson's troop was driven from its positions one after the other with considerable loss, and finally surrendered. Jamesen, we understand, will be tried by Court Martial and if he is not shot as he well deserves to be, it will be owing to the generosity of "Oom Paul" whom he once aided in his medical capacity. The rank and file were released. Such is the account we have received from Pretoria up to this moment 8 p.m. There are, however, still more alarming rumours received by Mr. Henry Hess, editor of the African Critic. They point towards revolution in Johannesburg and continued fighting and perhaps sad losses in Jameson's force. These reports are not yet verified. The latest message we receive is a copy of the Emperor of Germany's letter of congratulation to President Kruger on his victory over "armed bands." Quite right. We have nothing to say but acknowledge our filibustering sin and wish that good fellow Jameson had been wiser. There is a rumour that the German ships in Delagoa Bay have landed marines, and as you will see from the Times correspondent, the German press is very excited and the relations between the two Governments are likely to be strained. As yet there is no cause for anything of the kind except Transvaal agents are in Berlin ordering Krupp guns and ammunition and secretly—though not avowedly—asking for aid from the German Emperor. The position of affairs, technically, can be seen by the fact that 1,000 Chartered Company's men on their way from Bulwayo—the pick of the young Englishmen in Matabele land—will, if they do not stop their march, be fired upon by a British regiment, the Black Watch, now stationed at Mafeking. The Germans, the French, the Hittites and Jebuzites of the continent, do not understand this. Jameson, they say, was English; his troopers, black as they may have been, were to them English. Cecil Rhodes is English, and the responsibility of the Chartered Company's acts cannot be separated from that of the British Government. Technically they are wrong, but morally they are right. Indeed it is strange if, as passengers just arrived by the steamer from Cape Town say, the threatened invasion of the Transvaal has been known there for six months, that Lord Salisbury, the Duke of Fife, and other anarchists did not know of it. Mr. Cecil Rhodes disclaims any knowledge of Jameson's raid on Johannesburg, but his excuse condemns him. He says, "Jameson disobeyed orders." But Jameson was at Maxaking by the Chartered Company's orders, and the force that was following —the 300 men I suppose, who we hear to-night have been cut up by the Boers— were, as far as we know, not disobeying orders. Mr. Chamberlain on his part in reply to a direct accusation in this morning's Daily Chronicle, is reported to have said when the paper was given him to read, that the allegations of his complicity in the acts of the Chartered Company were "beneath contempt." Very well. But somebody is to blame for leaving the matter to be explained at the eleventh hour, and it looks as if our government of dukes, who were put in by a majority of 152 to protect "interests"—the Chartered Company's included—has overdone its part and covered us not only with the disgrace of the defeat by the Boers of the Company's troops, which is a small matter—but with the indelible disgrace of national dishonesty. The country is so far deadly quiet, and even the wretched Stock Exchange has not been affected by the news of Jameson's defeat; but if the country is quiet it is because a new mine has been sprung upon us unawares. At this moment I am writing odds and ends of news as it comes in hour by hour, and must confess, after anxious and wearisome reading, we are all of us unable to form any opinion as to the immediate causes of this South African business, and we do not yet know the particulars of poor Jameson's defeat. Of course we know from a hundred different sources how intolerable the position of the foreign population had become in Johannesburg, where they were subject to the exactions of a scoundrelly and corrupt government in Pretoria, nominally republican, but not even an oligarchy of Dutch squatters, but the despotism of the President and two or three participators in his robberies. That, however, is not now the point. Bad as the government of the Transvaal may be, we must recognise its independence. It seems doubtful after all if we even reserved in our last treaty the right of superiority over the South African Republic. Under these circumstances what we want to know is to what extent is Lord Salisbury, British Prime Minister, and Mr. Cecil Rhodes, prime minister of our South African colony, and the Duke of Abercorn and the Duke of Fife, respectively chairman and director of the South Africa Chartered Company, responsible for a decided act of filibustering? To use Lord Rosebery's words in the injudicious letters he has written on the Armenian question, it makes "one's gorge rise" to see a miserable lawyer like Sir Richard Webster still talking of "that great man at the head of the state who, with the even greater than he, Lord Beaconsfield, brought us peace with honour" when the place is tumbling about our ears just for the want of a little subtlety, a little tact and moral courage in following from the first a clear and straight course of political rectitude in dealing with foreign nations. No man could have ventured to predict the present position of this country. It surpasses the foulest dream of the most benighted pessimist. But there was a great deal that was obvious and should have been guarded against.

ARMY AND NATIONAL GUARD.

The long-expected decree organizing the army and specially the National Guard on a sound and proper basis has at last been issued. We publish the main clauses of the decree at foot:—

All the officers and non-commissioned officers shall have to pass an examination during the first week of June in order to obtain their commissions. Those who fail to pass shall return to the ranks as soldiers.

Such, in a short space, is the sum total of this new law, which is the first step towards compulsory military service in the whole country. This is what is required. Nothing makes a man respect his Government and the laws so much as learning to obey.

OUR MONTEVIDEO LETTER.

(From Stand-by O'Gorman.)

Montevideo, Jan. 28th.

Hopeless dulness broods over everything in this dying city by the sea. Even the enterprising shepherds who gained a modest living by pasturing goats in the city streets on the grass therein growing, on sardine boxes and the newspapers, have gone out on strike because the Municipality proposed to make them take out licences. Social everything is dull, despite the efforts of the daily press to produce an illusion of wild gaiety when chronicling the persons present at the concerts at the Pocitos hotel and the visitors to Villa Colon with its Giot Park of tall eucalyptus trees. All the world and his wife who own quintas have gone to them. At Villa Colon there is a large number of quintas and also in the vicinity of Pocitos. At the former place there is a good little hotel which led a desultory existence for a number of years. It has now been taken over by a Frenchman, M. Louis, who was head man at Charpentier's, and this year it is well kept. At Pocitos many improvements have been made at the hotel, including a fine closed-in piazza on the upper story with a good view seaward. It is always cool there and the magnificent pier offers a fine promenade for those who fear to fill their shoes with sand in walking across the long stretch of beach. Several times a week there are open air concerts on the pier, and the "jeunesse dorée" of both sexes from the surrounding quintas and from town flock there in their best clothes. They walk and walk up and down and ogle each other on the nights when the electric light makes the pier as bright as day—the other nights they also walk—and sit in dark corners. There's nothing half so sweet in life as love's young dream." All this, however, does not bring much grist to the hotel, for all this "jeunese dorée" enjoys all that is offered gratis but rarely orders an ice—champagne. "Que esperanza."

Last summer a great row was made in the papers because the waiters refused to allow the non-consumers to monopolize the chairs at the little tables intended for those who wished to quench their thirst. The noble rastaquouère felt that he was doing great honor to the 'Gringo's' establishment by deigning to show himself there. Next year he will doubtless demand a subsidy for coming. What the hotel should do is to put up a gate and charge an entrance fee for all comers, the same to be deducted from the price of any refreshments served. Those who come by the Empresa's trams would have a ticket of admission; at present nothing could be cheaper. For twenty cents you have a ticket which entitles you to ride from the centre of the town to Pocitos, a bath, cabin and shower bath after a good swim, and a concert and return to town. Dinner with wine costs 80 cents.

* * *

The past week we had three days of heat that everyone called horrible. It was unpleasant, yet when I consulted the thermometer I never saw it above 27 Cent, and an afternoon swim at Pocitos always left me cool for the rest of the evening. For the past 3 days we are shivering again. As one grows old, one is always suffering from disillusions and the upsetting of all the theories and ideals of early youth. This has just happened to me for the I don't know how manyth time. In early youth I read tales of the noble San Bernard dog who with a flask of brandy tied round his neck dug benumbed travellers from beneath the snow and administered to them the life giving draught. This went on until by the spread of education, the fraternity of tramps "caught on" to the "soft snap" and used to go and bury themselves by hundreds all round the Monastery of St. Bernard. I also read tales of the equally noble Newfoundland dog who plunged into the roaring waves and saved men, women and children. One of my neighbors is a Newfoundland, a fine animal weighing at least 60 kilos. We are great friends, and when he sees me leave my house, he accompanies me. The other day, during the hot weather, I awoke early and went to Pocitos for a swim—Turco, that is his name, saw me leave with my basket of costume and towels and decided to accompany me, running behind the tram; once there, he wandered off and I went to my cabin, undressed, jumped overboard and swam out. I like to swim a kilometre or two every day, as it is the only exercise I can get. When well out beyond the pier, I saw Turco running about on the beach looking for me and called to him. He saw me and recognised me even at that distance and at once plunged in and swam towards me. Fortunately, remembering his long run behind the tram, I swam in shorewards to meet him. When he reached me he deliberately climbed on top of me, to rest of course, forcing me under the water and scratching me from head to foot with his nails. I got free by diving, but when I came up he was at once on top of me again, and hard words and blows would not drive him off. I should not have minded his putting his front paws on me to take a rest, but he persisted in lifting his shoulders out of the water at my expense. I then thought—"The poor beast is tired, I will swim away from him and let him paddle in alone." Que esperanza! I had not gone ten metres when he was on top of me, his front legs firmly gripped around my neck and his hind feet scoring my back and tearing my bathing trunks so that I had them down round my feet and could not strike out. Meanwhile he held me with a grip of iron and I could not get at him to break loose. There was no recourse, but to dive again, when he let go. I came up behind him and grabbed him by the tail, but he turned faster than I could and clawed me badly. Then my strength and wind began to give out—it was only my second swim this season and I was not yet in training. There were only two chances left, either to mount him as he had mounted me and drown him, or else to keep him at a distance. The first alternative I did not like, as he was an old friend and was only joking, so I grabbed him firmly by the wool under the throat and keeping my arm rigid paddled along somehow until at last, oh blessed feeling, my toes could feel bottom and in a few minutes the waves washed us upon the beach. I was completely played out and do not want to hear any more tales of the life-saving qualities of the Newfoundland dog.

Advertizement brokers are a nuisance everywhere, but I think they are worse here than anywhere else, as we have more papers in proportion to the population than any city I know. The best way to get rid of the above gentry here is to refer them to the English advertising agency, saying that you have put your advertising in its hands. My attention has been called to another curious fact. If any one here puts an ad. in the STANDARD, he is sure to receive letters from your colleagues soliciting the same ad. A couple of years ago I had a small ad. in the STANDARD for a short time for which you kindly charged nothing, as I belonged to your staff. I was much amused to receive an offer to publish the same at 30% less than the STANDARD price.

CHARGE OF EMBEZZLEMENT AGAINST A BANK ACCOUNTANT.

At the Guildhall, on January 4th, John Day, aged 53, accountant of Farleigh-road Stoke Newington-road, was charged with embezzling and stealing a cheque for £400 and also one for £250, the property of his employers, the British Bank of South America. The accused, who was in a bad state of health, was allowed to be seated in front of the dock. Mr. Blanchard Wontner, who prosecuted on behalf of the bank, said that for some 30 years the accused had been in the service of the bank as assistant accountant; his salary was £650 per annum. Every confidence was placed in him. On the 11th of September Messrs. C. J. Hambro and Co. sent to the bank for a draft for £250 on the bank at Rio. They forwarded the cheque for £250, which the accused caused to be cashed, and the proceeds of which he was found to have appropriated to his own use. On the books being audited it was seen that there had been irregularities, and receipts had been forged. Day was asked for an explanation, but before giving one left the office and did not return. He was subsequently arrested by Detective Inspector Egan at his residence. He had sent a fully written confession to the bank, in which he stated that his defalcations amounted to about £3,000; but he (Mr. Wontner) was afraid it would be seen that it was considerably over that sum.

The prosecutors had gone through their books and had discovered defalcations to about £6,000. He (Mr. Wontner) would call his evidence, and then ask for the committal of the accused upon the charges of falsifications of accounts, embezzlement, and forgery.

Mr. John Bromley, chief accountant at the British Bank of South America, Moorgate-street, said that during his absence in September last the accused acted as chief accountant. Witness had examined the cash-book and found an entry of £250 as having been paid by C. J. Hambro and Co. for a dratt on their branch at Rio. He also produced the book showing particulars of bank notes paid for that cheque. The receipt (produced) for £250 purported to be signed by C. J. Hambro and Co. "per pro" Witness said to the best of his belief it was in the handwriting of accused. Witness had examined the ledgers, but could find no entry of such payment by C. J. Hambro and Co. His attention was called to this on the 28th of November by the auditors, who were struck with the similarity of the handwriting on the receipt. He at once examined the books, and satisfied himself that a fraud had been committed, and then communicated with the Directors, who ordered the defendant's arrest. The accused had left in the middle of the previous day. It was part of the prisoner's duty to draw cheques for the payment of bill stamps. On the counterfoil of the cheque-book for the 2nd of August he found an endorsement in prisoner's handwriting, £400 for foreign bill stamps. Witness had searched for the cheque, which should, in the ordinary course, have been returned, but had been unable to find it. It was his duty to enter stamps received in the cash-book and foreign stamp-book. No entry had been made in those books as to stamps, but he found an entry of the payment of £400 to C. J. Hambro and Sons for "cable order, Rio." By this means the cash-book was quite clear on that day. The receipt in connection with this also he believed to be in prisoner's handwriting. The amount had been duly entered in the prisoner's handwriting in the Rio branch ledger. The ledger had been cast up £400 wrong. After the prisoner left, by order of the bank authorities he had an interview with him at his residence. He was very ill. Witness asked him for an explanation, and he said, "I can give no explanation." Witness afterwards received a written communication signed by the accused, in which he admitted his guilt. His memory, he wrote, was not good enough to recollect the total amount of his deficiencies, but as far as he could ascertain it was about £3,000. He then went on to explain his "modus operandi," and that it had been going on since May, 1889.

The Alderman—Can you say what has become of all this money?

Mr. Wontner—I'm afraid not.

Mr. Shearham (for the defendant)—A sick house, I am informed.

Hugh Turney, clerk in the bank, gave evidence as to the payment of the £250 cheque by C. J. Hambro and Sons, on September 11th, for the draft on the bank at Rio. It was an open cheque.

George Shore, another clerk to the prosecuting bank, said that the prisoner handed him the cheque for £250, and by his direction he cashed it and handed the notes to the defendant.

Charles J. Williams, clerk in the Bank of England, produced five £50 bank-notes. The notes were endorsed "J. Day, Moorgate-street."

William R. Collinson, cashier at the London Joint-Stock Bank, said the prosecuting bank were customers of theirs. On the 8th of August last a cheque for £400 of theirs was presented and paid. He gave the numbers of the notes paid.

A witness from the defendant's own bank proved that those notes were paid into the credit of defendant's account.

Alfred Overall, in the service of C. J. Hambro and Sons, foreign bankers, of Old Broad-street, said that the receipts produced were forgeries.

Detective-Inspector Egan gave evidence as to the arrest.

Alderman Bell committed prisoner to take his trial at the next Sessions of the Central Criminal Court.

DEATH OF DR. DEL VALLE

The very sudden death of this distinguished Argentine has thrown all Buenos Aires into mourning and yesterday afternoon as many of the families were taking their customary drive to Palermo they were disagreably surprised at the large number of carriages that surrounded the door of Dr. Del Valle's residence in the Avenida Alvear and on enquiring discovered that he died yesterday afternoon at 3 p.m.

Dr. Aristobulo Del Valle was born in Dolores in this province about 55 years ago. He was the son of Colonel Del Valle who figured much at that period and subsequently in the affairs of this province. He was in the morning of life when the Paraguayan war was declared and with the enthusiasm of youth joined his regiment and marched to defend his country's cause. On his return from the campaign he obtained his diploma as lawyer and opened his studio in company with Dr. Mariano Demaria, who up to the day of his death was associated with him in his studio. As a lawyer he enjoyed a very large practice and figured in some of the greatest lawsuits of the day, but as a politician he became still more prominent, and in the great debate on the removal of the capital from this city to La Plata, he distinguished himself as one of the greatest orators of Buenos Aires. He was well read in English and French literature and had a large connection with the leading residents. In Congress he always took part in the debate on every important question and in the revolution 1890 he figured in the Parque and was one of the principal leaders of the movement. For very many years he held the chair of professor "constitutional" and his brilliant lectures were attended by all the rising generation of the junior members of the Bar. Dr. Del Valle has figured so much in all the political questions during the last quarter century that his biography forms as it were a portion of the contemporary history of his country. In the year 1893 we again find him at the head of another strong reactionary movement which culminated in the overthrow of the La Plata Government, and led him into the chair of the Minister. During the last three years he has not played any very active part in political affairs, and the Radical Party of which he was such a distinguished member has dropped so much out of view, that its leaders have been almost forgotten.

The deceased gentleman was formed in what may be termed the Hector Varela period, when young men of great ability and decided talent came to the front and without Government aid or assistance made names for themselves which survived the questions, the topics, and the discussions which brought them into notice. In those days the Estradas, the Sarsfields, the Juan Carlos Gomez, the Varelas, the Gutierrez, Sarmiento, Avellaneda, Frias, Rawson and many others whose names at this moment we cannot remember, formed a bright phalanx of shining ability in which Del Valle also figured; it was a period when mediocrity had no chance in Buenos Aires, and many of us can still remember the fiery eloquence of Aristobulo Del Valle thundering in the Legislature of Buenos Aires and afterwards re-echoed in the Halls of Congress. Dr. Del Valle was a man of very nervous temperment and very excitable and it appears that only a few days ago he was very much annoyed by one of the servants in Mr. Casares' house shouting "ladron ladron," as he entered the house. The affair so much annoyed him that the next day he felt indisposed and kept his bed. Yesterday he was so much better that Dr. Ocampo sat and conversed with him, and congratulated him on his recovery, when suddenly Dr. Del Valle put his hand to his forehead and said he felt bad, he then fell back on the pillow and expired. The shock to his family and Dr. Ocampo at his death was tremendous and hopes were entertained that it was a mere fainting fit and that he would soon come to, but he never spoke again, and the angel of death spread his wings over the couch. The funeral to-day will be nothing short of a political demonstration.

RAILWAY ITEMS.

The Municipality having drawn attention to the great block up caused in the Calle Brazil by the branch lines serving the port, the Catalinas and Ensenada, the Engineers' Department on consultation thinks that it is unavoidable, owing to the great pressure of business at that point, as to remove the lines would be to upset the port and knock operations completely on the head.

LA PLATA.

(From our own Correspondent.)

Jan. 29th.

The jury entrusted with the award of a prize of $1000 for the best reaper and binder, has decided in favour of "La Victoriosa," imported by the "Fabricantes Ingleses." Only members of the jury voted for the "Buck-eye" of Mr. Lanus.

The Government decreed this afternoon that the National flag should to-morrow be hoisted half-mast-high, as a mark of respect to the memory of that distinguished Argentine who in life was known as Aristobulo del Valle.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

There was really nothing to complain of yesterday. The weather was tip-top-pish: the Gold Eagle's rheumatism was a trifle better, and there was news from all quarters, which does n't happen every day. The principal item was the cousinly "rapprochement" between John Bull and Jonathan, who seem inclined to tackle the Unspeakable Turk and make him stop murdering Christians, no matter what his new ally, the Muscovite Bear, may say or do. The Congress at Washington has given President Cleveland full powers to act as he pleases in reference to Lord Salisbury's proposal for joint action. The Venezuelan muddle is to be settled direct, and a Special Commisioner from President Crespo will go to London for the purpose. Our good friends the Dons were in great spirits, as matters in Cuba are turning in their favour. In telegraph circles there was a crape-on-the-hat feeling, as that great and good man Sir John Pender is about to "join the majority." The news from Chile was drummy and trumpety enough. The London money-bags have given our Transandine neighbours two millions of Her Majesty's portraits in solid gold, and they are as exuberant over it as if they had dined on Mudd's "Galway" every day for a week.

The news of the day yesterday was of the saddest kind—the sudden death of Dr Aristubulo Del Valle, one of the country's most gifted sons,—orator, author and statesman—the South American Mirabeau. He got a fright some days ago when entering his house, owing to some one shouting "Robbers!" This brought on indigestion, and yesterday forenoon he suddenly felt something and said, trying to rise in bed, "I feel bad," and in a few minutes he was dead, before his afrighted family could send for medical aid. The Republic has lost one of its greatest citizens.

Our cousin—son of our Uncle Sam—who recently supplied us with the talented supplementary article on the American Navy, tells us that if the very powerfully armed and armoured United States battle-ships of the Keersage class, of 11,500 tons displacement, draw only 24 ft. of water, it should be possible for the Argentine Government to have built a ship capable of carrying as heavy a battery and as much armour as the Saint Bon, on a draught of not more than 22 ft. 6 in. Quite possibly, but Time, like the Tide, waits for no man—not even an Argentine.

The benefit in aid of the Funds of the Irish Orphanage and of the British and American Benevolent Society, promises to be one of the greatest events of the season. Wirth Bros. are making great preparations and the programme will be simply immense. One of our best known and most promiuent amateurs will positively appear for the first time in any circus. It is gratifying to known that as so many boxes have been enquired for, new ones are being erected. Do not forget, it is to take place to-morrow, Friday, the 31st inst.

We rejoice to say that General Capdevila, the distinguished Chief of the Army Staff, is now well again, and will resume his post at the War Office on Monday. The gallant General worked hard while confined to his house, and has several very important new plans in connection with his department ready to submit to the Minister of War. Dr. Zorrilla, Minister of the Interior, was somewhat better yesterday, but the heat retards his recovery.

Our next door neighbours Messrs. Krabb and Co., though late in the field, have licked the head and shoulders off all competitors in the Kalendar line. They sent us yesterday a magnificent clock—a real going concern—eulogistic of their famous "Obelisk Sewing Machine," which is now coming into such vogue, and also a kalendar shewing several charming little girls going up-stairs to bed, after working at the machine. The centre of this Obelisk Clock shows the famous Cleopatra's Needle, a most appropriate escutcheon for a sewing machine.

Mr. Blas Z. Ramos, so widely known in commercial circles, has decided to abandon the country after many years' residence, and the valuable furniture and really splendid works of art in his house (Chacabuco 461, between Belgrano and Venezuela) will be sold by auction on Friday 31st inst. at 1.15 p.m. The house is already on view and crowds of people visited the place yesterday admiring the beauties therein contained. Special catalogues were distributed to-day, all over the place. The house is really worth an inspection. and we do not hesitate in recommending readers to visit it. The auction will be brought off by the firm of Charles Olmi. from whom interested parties may obtain further details.

The following are the principal prizes drawn in the Montevideo lottery yesterday:—9176, $20,000; 9966, $500; 10759, $200; 6443, $200; 8781, 5854, 10226, $100; 10528, 10810, 5776, 8345, 1139, 1114, 9552, $50.

Don't you forget it. To-morrow night the last performance but two of Wirth Brothers' Circus takes place. On this occasion the Irish Orphanage and the British and American Benevolent Society will receive a benefit. Several amateurs have offered their assistance. Among others Captain Mudd will exhibit in the ring five splendid horses who will drink hot whiskey punch (Galway Blazer brand) against any five men in the audience.

With much pleasure we announce the engagement of Mr. Harry Scott, one of the accountants of the London and River Plate Bank, to Miss Frances Lumb, the charming and accomplished daughter of Mr. Charles P. Lumb of this city. We congratulate our friend Mr. Scott on his great good fortune in securing one of the prize flowers of our English community.

The mails from Ireland have brought us the following fresh advices about the great Coghlan fortune, which by right belongs to Mrs. Bessie Mulhall, widow of he late Christopher Flood Mulhall, solicitor, and brother of the senior editor of this paper. Mrs. Mulhall, whose claims none can deny, has lost her case owing to the impossibility of proving the marriage of her grandmother to General Coghlan. The amount of the fortune is close on a million sterling. The Dublin papers say:—"Considerable interest is revived in the case of the great Coghlan fortune by the arrival in Birr of a new claimant, a Mr. Coghlan, from America, who has already taken steps with the view to having the entire proceedings before the English Court of Chancery reopened. This gentleman, who occupies a good position in America, claims to be more nearly related to the man who left the fortune than any of the parties amongst whom a portion of it—amounting to about half a million—has already been distributed. He states that he is in a position to prove that he is a grandson of a brother of General Coghlan, the father of the intestate Henry Thomas Coghlan, who left the money, and thus has a claim in male descent, whereas the few who have been beneficiaries under Judge Kekewitch's order established their cases through female connections. The nearest of these in degree of affinity was a Mr. Williams, of Dublin, whose mother was a sister of the general referred to, whilst the next in order of precedence was Sir Delves Broughton, Bart., a cousin of the intestate's wife. The amount of money left by the intestate with accruing interest was a quarter of a million. The claimants numbered two hundred from all parts of Ireland. The American gentleman, who appears quite confident of success, did not, it seems, hear of the case that occupied so much time of the English courts until it was over.

An old friend, on reading our report of Mar del Plata and its doings, informs us, that once upon a time all that country down there belonged to the late Baron Maua. He has promised us a few mems. Old Don Patricio Peralta Ramos always figured to us as the owner of the place. Don Patricio was half an Irishman, and for 20 years of his life played billiards every night at the "Soda Water" Calle San Martin, with our old departed friend Mr. Olivero, the far famed cigar man.

Telegrams from the West Coast announce that Mr. and Mrs. Thursby, Miss Craig, Mr. Huth Jackson and Mr. Arbone will be here on Friday. Mr. Huth Jackson will sail for England on 6th prox.

We note that our friends Messrs. Funes and Lagos have made very great changes in their establishment, which show pretty clearly how the wind has changed there and how the current has altered. All the fine stalls in the first "patio" or yard which have hitherto been filled with prize racing horses are now fitted up with neat lath "corrales" for fine rams and sheep, and the people who formerly bred race horses are now breeding prize rams and sheep. The pens in the establishment were all filled with very splendid Lincoln and Shropshire sheep. In fact such change a has come over the place that we asked Mr. Barcelo what had become of all the fine horses, and Mr. Funes turned to Mr. Carman and explained that the race horse business is played out, and the whole market is now into sheep and rams. Several English estancieros in Santa Cruz and Gallegos are expected up shortly to buy fine rams for their flocks down there, and some of the estancieros are importing the rams direct from England to Punta Arenas.

It may interest our readers to know that a Special Electric expert has left the States for Buenos Aires. He comes on special mission to finish the electric tram business and do away with all the horse trams. In a few years Buenos Aires will be a horseless city.

There was nothing new yesterday from Ashantee, nor any further news about the sale of young Ashantee girls at five shillings a head to Arab dealers, who drive the girls to the mines and sell them at £2 10s. a head to the English workmen at the gold mines; but we have received some extraordinary news from Bechaana land, which was discovered by our old friend Major Rickard. Owing to press of copy we are compelled to hold the news over for our next.

To-day at 5 o'clock the meeting of the St. Andrew's Scotch School, Calle Ituzaingo No 550, will be held, when the formal handing over of the School to the Committee will take place. All those who take an interest in the school, and their name is legion, are invited to attend. Special notice will be found in another column. The Revd. J. W. Fleming, B. D. arrived in town yesterday morning from Ajo, where he has been conducting services at Mr. Gibson's estancia. Ajo is one of the most pious, religious districts in the camp, but the journey from Dolores rivals that to Avernus, and to get back to the Scotch Church, and escape all the dangers of that desperately bad road, surpasses the travels of the pious old friend Aeneas. We welcome Mr. Fleming back to town and much compliment him on his Xavieric zeal Stop Press—We forgot to tell the ladies that there will be afternoon tea at the meeting in the school, which we hope they won't miss,

We regret to hear that some of our old friends in the Tigre had their wind mills blown down in the last storm.

Yesterday it again rained good luck on us. Another delicious basket of strawberries from our worthy friend Mr. Younger, also a fresh batch of potatoes from a friend in San Vicente. In connection with the strawberries we may add that there has been some great mistake about the strawberry cow, as to the present we have never caught a sight of that long promised milcker.

Colonel Garcia, chief of the Naval Staff, can't get away to Golfo Nuevo, at least the Minister of War has asked him to postpone his trip. There is tremendous push at present in Naval matters, General Roca is off to Martin Garcia, and we suppose the place is to be fortified. It is about time. Argentines have been talking about fortifying that place for the last 40 years. The Paraná leaves this week with chains, cables and buoys for San Blas; she will probably meet our friend Slocum of the Spray there.

Trips to Europe from the River Plate are miserably monotonous during the voyage, on all the lines without exception, a mild concert for a sailors Home, or an attempt at a dramatic performance, being the only faint excitement. Not so on board the North Atlantic steamers, where an elephant fight or other "rouse" that threatens to sink the ship is not uncommon. Here is an account of an elephant fight that came off the other day on board a German steamer on her voyage from Hamburg to New York. "There were two elephants, named Pilot and Albert on board. By some means they broke their chains, and so soon as they gained their liberty, a terrific fight between them ensued. They trumpeted loudly and, having lashed each other with their trunks, used their tusks in savage attempts to gore each other. Every thing in the part of the ship where the elephants were struggling was smashed to atoms. At one time they fell against the side of the vessel with such force that the blow shook the entire ship. Each threw the other repeatedly. Albert at last reared on his hind legs and fell across Pilot crushing him to the floor. While pinned down Pilot succeeded in piercing Albert. The infuriated brutes were finally separated after a struggle of two hours.

Panama again! Lates to the 2nd inst. The death of Mr. Emmanuel Lyons, at Kingston, Jamaica, on 30th ult. is announced. Mr. Lyons had resided for many years on the isthmus, where he married a native lady who died a few years ago in London. After the death of his wife. Mr. Lyons returned to the Isthmus with his children, Mr. Gabriel Duque, proprietor of the Star and Herald, returned to Panama on the 26th December. Guatemala news states that President Barrios has received a letter from Mrs. Carlos Ezeta in which she claims that she is a citizen of Guatemala, and urges the President to use every possible effort to induce Salvador to turn over to her the Ezeta property, which she declares was arbitrarily confiscated. She claims that the property belongs to her and her children. On Monday night, December 23, Panama witnessed a public demonstration, the like of which has never occurred in its history before. It was organized for the sole purpose of giving expression of approval of the firm stand which President Cleveland has taken in the Anglo-Venezuelan dispute. There were 4000 people present.

We must congratulate our esteemed contemporary the Montevideo Times on getting ahead of us for once in the genealogical line. It say:—"It is not generally known that President Cleveland is half an Irishman. His mother was a Miss Neale, of Baltimore, whose father had come to that city from Ireland. On his father's side Mr. Cleveland is descended from an Ipswich family that emigrated in the middle of the seventeenth century, and was remarkable for the number of ministers it gave to the American churches. President Cleveland is himself a Presbyterian." Our colleague then jumps from genealogy to Lotteries and informs the world that "the $50,000 prize of the last drawing of the Caridad Lottery was divided among five residents of Concordia, one of them bearing the name of Charles Fraser, It is well to mention this, for, for some time past, it has been rare enough to hear of the big prize falling anywhere at all." We are surprised at this last observation, as in this city the Montevideo Lottery is believed to be the only one in South America that is honestly drawn.

The bare feet cure. A certain Sr. Carlos Roth has applied to the Montevideo Government for permission to establish, in the Swiss Colony, a hydropathic establishment for the celebrated water cures of Father Kneipp. The permission will probably be granted on condition that the establishment is controlled by a certified medical man. The patients walk about all day in wet grass, without boots or stockings, and this queer cure is supposed to cure them of all the ills that flesh is heir to.

We have received the following wail of woe from a fair Belgrano subscriber:—

"Dearest STANDARD,

"You are always so good in taking the part of, and airing the grievances of the helpless, that we thought, before our skin and complexions, and, as a natural sequence, our tempers, were ruined for ever, we would appeal to you to help us to get back our nice soft "aguas corrientes" instead of this horrid Artesian well water. Could n't you?

"Signed on behalf of 12 Belgranoites.

"A Ruined Complexion."

We'll look into the matter.

We nearly fell off our chair yesterday on seeing in Sport and Pastime a life-size (What breed of bull is this? It's not Irish) representation of a hailstone which fell at Carlos Casares during the late storm. The stone was picked up ten minutes after it fell and a tracing made of it from which the drawing was taken. No wonder if that hailstorm did damage. The stone reminds us of the Dutch cheeses with which the Argentine Nelson, our hero countryman Admiral Brown, swept the Brazilians off the seas.

The oldest Generals in the French army in active service (There are exactly a dozen of them) are sixty five years of age, and the two youngest are respectively fifty five and fifty four.

A Paysandu paper gives the following particulars of the sudden death of the late Mr. Conrado Hughes. On the Tuesday he had attended a special service held by Mngr. Requena and three other priests in the Chapel on his estancia "La Paz." Throughout the day he had been in excellent spirits, and after dinner was playing the piano and harmonium, on both of which he was a proficient, several visitors being present. About half past ten he retired to bed. Half an hour later he complained to his wife that he felt unwell and rose to take a glass of milk. This caused him to cough, which was followed by vomiting of blood, and in a few minutes he was dead, the direct cause of death being aortic aneurism. His doctor had warned him some time ago that this would be his end. He was buried in the family pantheon in the estancia Chapel, where his father had been buried before him. Father Requena conducted the funeral service, which was attended by all the neighbouring residents. His loss is very much regretted in the Department.

Another Hotel has opened its doors to the public, the owner of which is no other than the well-known late manager of the Hotel Norte. As will be seen by the advertisement in another column, he offers only genuine English and American drinks and also gives breakfasts and dinners at a moderate price. Travellers and Sea Captains especially can be recommended to Mr. Jousten's Hotel, the address of which is Calle Cuyo 324.

Gold Premium.

FIRST RING..... 222.30%
SECOND RING..... 220.20%

The situation began te look awkward this morning for the gold bears, who shook in their boots as a bullish blast swept through the hall and put up the premium two points. "Cornered," whispered the outsider as from the railings he watched the speculation, but the term is too strong; the bears have run short, but they are far from cornered. They have been banging away gold since the premium wa over 230%; a lot of gold has to be boughback before it regains that comparatively high level. Meantime, the gold market was in a threatening mood and bearish prospects were again at a discount.

Apart from speculative causes, the "long" or the "short" of the month's account, it cannot be disguised that the announcement of fresh purchases of armament has produced an unfavorable impression in those quarters where every effort is strained to improve the value of the currency. On the heels of the purchase of the Italian iron-clad Saint Bon comes the news that the War Office has increased considerably the already large orders for artillery at Essen. In this race for armaments the Argentine and Chilian Treasuries will soon go to the wall. It remains to be seen who can hold out better.

One million gold dollars changed hands af the first ring in a rising market. Business for cash embraced three hundred thousand dollars; the premium opened at 221.20%, rose like a balloon to 222.80%, and closed at 222.30%. Over three hundred thousand dollars were sold for the end of the month; the premium opened at 222%, rose to 233%, and closed at 222.50%. A quarter of a million was sold for the end of February; the premium opened at 225.50%, rose to 226.50%, and closed at 225.50%—three points contango. Fifty thousand dollars were sold for the end of March; the premium opened at 228% and closed at 227.50%. A small business was posted for end of July at 234%. The market closed with a bullish tendency.

A few thousand National Cedulas F changed hands at 79.50%. La Plata Cedulas were steady at 17.50. Funded Bonds of the Floating Debt at 78. Catalinas shares tottered at 3 and 3.10.

The following is a summary of the business effected at the first ring to-day:—

Telegrams from London announce that Rothschild placed on the London market with great facility 2,000,000£ stg. of 4½% Chilian Treasury Bills running up to 12 months. The applications were much larger than the amount offered: they were all taken up at par, which shows the excellent credit of Chile in spite of all her local difficulties in the conversion of the paper-money. The Chilian Government can begin drawing for the proceeds of the Treasury Bills next Monday. In this respect the text of the Chilian £4,000,000 stg. loan, which is hanging fire, will be read with interest:—

"1.—The President of the Republic is authorized to issue bonds to the amount of £4,000,000 bearing interest not exceeding 4½% per annum and ½% per annum amortization. The interest and amortization of these bonds to be paid in sterling in Santiago, London, Paris or Berlin at the option of the Bondholders.

"2.—The proceeds of this loan shall be applied to concluding and equipping the railways the construction of which was authorized by the Act of 20th of January 1888; to the carrying on of the Talcahuano harbour works; to the laying of a submarine cable to Punta Arenas and to any other purposes which may be authorized by special act of Congress.

"3.—The proceeds of the loan shall be spent in accordance with the annual votes included in the Estimates.

"4.—From the proceeds of the loan the President of the Republic is authorized to invest up to £1,000,000 in British Consols which will be held in reserve until the requirements of the above mentioned works and the purchase of rolling stock for the railways necessitate their resale.

"5.—The authority to contract this loan will expire at the end of one year.

"Santiago, December the 20th, 1895.

Paper money was in steady demand all day. Paper discounts were quoted at 8 % hard, gold always nominal at 7 %.

Telegrams from Rio de Janeiro quoted exchange on London this evening weak at 9 ⅛ d.

Mr. C. A. Catlin, manager of the Pierce Artesian Well Company, was welcomed to-day on his arrival from Montevideo. He reports affairs in the Mount very dull, and all looking forward to the new state bank as a means of reviving Uruguayan business.

The first number of a weekly publication the Boletin Semanal was handed round to-day, and to all intents and purposes it is an estanciero's farming guide and good compilation of advertisements. The reading matter has been overlooked—pressure on space probably. It will be handed round free of charge, which is a seductive inducement to subscribers.

Our correspondent W. H. G. writes from Suipacha that the place is very dull. The camps still good and sheep, horses and cattle all in splendid condition. In the districts of Chivilcoy, Bragado, Nueve de Julio, etc. threshing machines are clattering away as fast and as loud as ever; wages for l abouring hands are reported from $3 to 3.50 per diem. Some few days ago Mr. W. O'Connor of Mercedes bought in neighbourhood of Navarro 2,400 fat wethers at $5 each, sent to the Frozen Meat establishment at Campana. Our correspondent says that the taxation squeeze is so terrible that the local trade has taken to cutting the weight in order not to minimise the profits and keep prices at same level. Very wrong of the trade to be sure, as it has given rise to mammoth uncertainty where weights comes intoplay.

Our Rosario Correspondent in a laconic, but very compact dispatch advises us that it rained in his neighbourhood all Monday night and yesterday morning, the news of the harvest being as gloomy as the weather. There are rumours of revolution against Leiva, but not fresh, as the storm on this head has been threatening since before he took office and will in all probability see him well through his term and perhaps a brace of half a dozen of his successors as well. This kind of political effervescence seems to be required as a tonic every decade or so.

With reference to the butter export trade which we alluded to in our last there seems to be no lack of markets open to this product, and the only difficulty is the supply: of course without the latter there could be no trade, so that the business of exporting Argentine butter up to the present has simply been a kind of feeler to test the disposition of the European markets. The experiment has been so far succesful that the samples have been very favorably, received and we have no doubt there will be now a great spurt in the dairy business in all the cattle districts. On this head we note that an enterprising Belgian gentleman has written to the Immigration Department to he put in communication with a leading dairy, the object beiug to place Argentine butter in the Belgian market; he says that at present the supply is drawn from Holland and North of France and that the prospects are excellent.

The reports of the damage done to the crops in the South by hail and rain were much exaggerated, as it seems now that 5% will cover the whole thing. Scarcely worth talking about.

The Licoristas announce an indignation meeting to-morrow at 3 p.m., in the Union Industrial Argentina, Lorea 80, to protest against the fresh taxes on "materias alimenticias" articles of prime necessity. There is such zeal and pressure on in this line that the public is beginning to get stubborn, and unless the brake is put on there will certainly be an explosion that will not redound to the benefit of the authorities. Festina lente. The straw and the camel are still in evidence as a salutary warning to moderate zeal.

With regard to the sale of tobacco not dressed for market the Finance office has reconsidered its first decision that the staple was not subject to tax and now holds that it is liable, unless it is just fresh from the plant. The wonder is that there is a loop hole at all.

The Santa Fé authorities have succeeded in capturing six bandits who have been sent in to Salta from San Cristobal and Esperanza. Unless they escape on the way and are overtaken by a timely bullet, there is little chance of their being long in durance vile. These escapes were so generally productive a few years back of fatal consequences that they were looked on as very salutary and wholesome.

The new Governor of Santiago del Estero, convinced that irrigation is absolutely necessary for the welfare of his territory, has announced his intention of running canals and ditches all over the province. Mr. Ruycester, C. E. has been requisitioned to study the prolongation of the Cuarteada Canal, which will be the first work in this line. Governor Ruiz could not have hit more aptly on the vital necessity for Santiago. It is perhaps the one stretch of Argentina more than any other that requires irrigation works, and if they are persevered with there is a grand future before it, arid and hopeless as it is at present. Mr. Ruiz's term of office may not be long enough to see much accomplished, but if he only sets the business going, he will do more to link his name with Santiago than if he were perpetual Governor.

Further messages from London this morning announce a firm market for Argentine stocks and shares, and no change in the money rate. The fall in our gold premium in the last ten days has produced a favourable impression in Capel Court.

There was a sharp tussle at the second ring between the gold bulls and bears, and a lot of gold changed hands: about eight hundred thousand gold dollars were sold. Of this amount three hundred thousand gold dollars were banged away for delivery to-morrow: the premium opened just as bearish as it had opened bullish in the morning: the premium sank from 221.80 per cent. to 220.20 %, closing price. The corner and "shortage" of the morning vanished as if by magic. A quarter of a million was sold for the end of the month, the premium closing at 220 %. One hundred thousand dollars were sold for end of February: the premium opened at 225 ½ %, fell to 223 ½ %, and closed at 224 %—four points contango. The premium closed at 227 % for March and 228 ½ % for end of April. The market closed with decided weakness.

Our Montevidean correspondent writes: "Having been absent for a long time I have applied to a financial friend for information in regard to the proposed new State Bank and the loan upon which it will be based. He has a long experience of the country and the following are his calculations, made "calamo corrente":—

Floated say at 65 %, interest quarterly, equivalent, more or less, to.....	5 ½ %	payable
Expenses of management, say.....	3%
Annual interest on loan.. $600,000—add, say only debts and losses.....	12% 3% 3%	or say (?) for bad
Total annuual cost.....	15%
Money obtainable to-day on good security at from 7% to 9%, say.....	9%
Difference.....	6%

In what manner can this five million loan be permanently invested to yield 15%, plus sinking fund and "dividendo?" Without deposits, business in discounts or exchange (to say nothing of official accommodations and drainage) how long will the $3,250,000 proceeds of the five million loan last? (against this we may set Government deposits which will amount to something, as it never redeems its certificates until five months after date. S. B. O'G.) On the other hand the Bank may issue small notes and Government oblige pensioners and employés to receive them. Merchants, in turn, may be obliged to accept these notes from the above classes in payment of supplies on the principal that half a loaf is better than no bread, and perhaps, for a time, such notes will be convertible, until generally accepted. Once, however, a million or two of them are in circulation throughout the country, then look out for "curso forzoso" with all its woeful consequences. The gold of the bank will all have been converted into paper and promises to pay—of the Government industrial promoters. Thus my financial friend whom I have always found right in all his prognostics. Nevertheless, I recall the attempt of Herrera's Government to paper the country, and the agreement resolutely entered into by all the merchants of the town to have nothing to do with paper. The only use for paper was the purchase of lottery tickets, and at last even that worm turned. We all remember the late Royal Navy Captain who won the "premio gordo" of $50,000 and was disgusted at getting only £7,000 gold for it."

Parties on the look out for camps to rent should not miss the lease auction at La Plata on 5th inst. Several important tracts of land will be brought to the hammer 12,365 hectares in Guamini, 8491 hectares in Lincoln and 12,278 in 9 de Julio, the latter being surrounded by the well known camps of Wyatt Smith, Mr. Naon, Dick, Walter Stephenson, Mr. Darbyshire, Saturnino Unzué, Janussi, Rath and others. There is a reserve for each lot, but it is not a prohibitive one. Full particulars are obtainable at the Public Land office in La Plata.

Mr. Gilbert Kennedy has just arrived with a special consignment of pure Lincoln rams, shipped to this country by the well-known firm Tomlinson and Hayward of Lincoln, the manufacturers of the well known sheep dip. They will be on exhibition in the show yard of Funes and Lagos. Mr. Diego Roy, the representative of the firm here, is daily expecting a further consignment of 30 more.

PRODUCE MARKETS.

The situation to-day was kept up by cereals battling hard against the gold premium. As long as the news from Europe is up to the present mark, they will probably beable to hold their own in prices; should, however, this assistance fail, the position held by produce to-day would speedily crumble away. If, on the contrary, gold should rise, the two principal motors would combine to drive prices even highee than is now expected. Some splendid samples of wheat were thrown on the market yesterday, but exporters were driven out of the field by the extravagant prices asked by the owners. The maize exports are well maintained, Messrs Devoto, Balbiani and Co. have already sold this week 115,000 bags of yellow and morocho maize at 3 and 3.70 in the ports; a special lot of yellow maize was sold by the same firm at 4.05 for Italy, the highest price paid for some time in our markets: two weeks ago we predicted that if the exports continued as they promised, we should see a maize rate of 4 dollars, to-day we see that our statements have been confirmed.

The wool arrivals in the Central are considerable, several large consignments from the South and Entre Rios were received by Messrs. Devoto Balbiani and, Co. on the other hand we hear that in the Constitucion the stock is very small. Telegrams from France to-day report combed wools at 4.25 fcs., it strikes us nearly impossible that in two days a rise of 10 centimes should take place. Operations here are greatly restricted by the new aspect consignatarios have assumed: formerly they used to cave in to the artistas, now they have come to the conclusion that they were in a false position and have turned round, to the astonishment of our fashionable artistas and hold out for higher prices: they have not yet been able to obtain their point, as the sales were comparatively small. The entire sales did not pass 300,000 kilos, prices were well maintained; a rise is expected every day, as from all that we hear the Antwerp market is flying upwards.

The parcel of fine wool from the South was sold yesterday at the high figure of 6.76, a leading consignatario informed us that the wool was well worth the money paid for it, the lot was sold by Messrs. Kelsey and Co., the buyer we believe was Mr. Bohnen.

The following were the principal sales:

Prices for wheat still continue firm, the good and superior qualities of the new crop being the most sought for; the principal classes are Barletta, French and Saldomé. Several lots from the West and North were sold at 7.50 and 7.80; one special parcel of new French fetched 7.80. Middling lots are quoted at 7 and 7.30, damp at 6 and 6.60. From Rosario we hear that a transaction of 1000 tons new corn placed on board was made at 7.30. The "consumo" is the highest bidder, paying 8 dollars for special French and for good 7.70. In the Once 680 bags French were sold at 7.90 and 8.50, do tuselas at 7.60; a small parcel of damp stuff changed hands at 6.80. The demand closed stiff on the part of exporters, who have several vessels waiting for cargoes; as long as this situation lasts they are obliged to pay prices which although at present are fair will afterwards tell on the farmer. Exporters, working on the basis that sooner or later there will be heavy rain falls, are paying very low freights, so that after all, one price counterbalances the other.

Business in maize is as active as ever, good parcels fetching from 2.20 to 3.35, middling from 2.90 to 3 dollars; in the darsena 3.65 and 3.75 was paid for yellow maize: parcels affected with black grains are low, selling from 1.60 to 2 dollars, several large operations rumoured of which we shall report to-morrow. The transaction in linseed are meeting with great obstacles, as colonists are very seldom able to send in clean parcels; the greater part of the crop is stained. Affairs have reached such a bad state that several lawsuits are on hand owing to the contracted linseed not being up to the mark.

The following is interesting, as it refers to the crops in Australia. It seems that the total of the wheat crop in Victoria, South Australia, and New Zealand arrives at 4,975,000 bushels; and the deficit in New Wales, Queensland, and West Australia is 5,844,900 bushels. Even the old stock of wheat in Victoria is not sufficient to cover this deficit. We understand by this the large orders from Australia to California which are already being shipped.

"The drought, which generally spells anything but good fortune, proved a godsend to one man residing at Curajung, near Parks. Having run short of water he began a well in his garden, and before going far ran foul of a reef. The first blow of the pick broke off a piece of immensely rich stone, containing about 14 oz. of gold, and two dishes of stuff taken from the leader are estimated to contain 40 oz. He contented himself without searching further for water, and went and sold halt his interest in the well for £500. Splendid returns are being obtained from Wilners Green gold mine near Byng. Assays of the stone have given 77 oz. of gold and 54 oz. of silver to the ton. The half-yearly report of the Mount Morgan goldmine, Queensland, shows that the big syndicate continues to keep up its reputation as a dividend paying concern. The total receipts for six months were £272,000 distributed in dividends. 44,000 tons of stone were crushed for 66,400 oz. of gold. West Australia was to the fore last week with a new rush near Coolgardie: now Cue comes with something good. An alluvial rush is reported at Lawler's on Tom Cue's mine reef. Although the gold is very fine, men average up to an ounce with dry blowing. The patch is a good one, but the extent is unascertained. Splendid stone has been struck in the Last Chance mine, at Cue. Specimes are reported equal to 2 oz. of gold to the ton."

"The bright, moving picture of the country's trade, commerce and production on the opening year consoles us with the conviction that its future is superior to human error and independent of individual influence."

The above lines, quoted from THE STANDARD of 3rd inst., are the true expression of our sentiments respecting the present position and expected future of the country, if we are to judge from what has occurred to us, as a minute fraction in its common wealth, during the year that has expired, and the hopeful advent of the new one on which we have entered.

If we take our branch of trade, and instance our business in particular, we have to admit that the prospects as regards the country at large are not at all exaggerated in the transcript we have made us of, as the increase in our concern has been beyond our most sanguine expectations during the old year, and, on the eve of the new one, promise is given of a very satisfactory augmentation.

To keep pace, therefore, with this hopeful state of affairs we have made ample provision, and our stock, which is always kept in adequate supply, will be periodically increased with every novelty to meet the increasing requirements of the year.

MARRIAGE.

On the 25th inst., at the Civil Registry and afterwards at St. John's, Buenos Aires, by the Rev. Pelham Ogle, Frank William, second son of the late William Darch, of Liverpool, to Catharine, 3rd daughter of the late William Glasgow, of Edinburgh.

On the 28th inst., at St. Peter's, San José de Flores, by the Rev. R. F. Hancock, Herbert Basil, eldest son of the Rev. Canon Dolphin, of Long Eaton, Notts, England, to Agnes Isabel, eldest daughter of B. W. Gardom, of Buenos Aires.

RIVER STEAMERS.

The Cosmos which left Salto to-day for this port, grounded subsequently in the Corralitos reach in the Rio Uruguay, on account of the low state of that river.

The Tridente and Venus from Montevideo will arrive at the Darsena to-morrow, and will leave the Olympo for Montevideo and Tridente for Salto and intermediate ports.

GENERAL.

The mud in the channel enjoyed a field-day. Not only the Uplands which subsequently got off, but also the Kestor and Nicolini which did not, became entangled in its sliny embrace. The Ethelaida succeeded in escaping at dawn and continued her voyage.

The Company Transportes Maritimes has arranged its programme from April onwards as follows:—From Marseilles boats will leave for Buenos Aires on the 10th, 20th and 25th; and from Buenos Aires for Marseilles on the 15th, 18th and 30th of each month. The voyages from Marseilles on the 20th and from Buenos Aires on the 18th will be made exclusively by the Espagne and Italie whih without touching at Brazilian ports, will call only at Barcelona and Montevideo. The remaining journeys will comprise calls at Brazilian ports.

The Halton should to-morrow leaves the roads for Rosario to load.

The Annie Sofia should to-morrow be granted free pratique.

The Arará in ballast from the Cape of Good Hope and the Sprott from Rio are expected here to-morrow.

Her Bill of Health was to-day granted to the Highland Lassie bound for Liverpool.

The Litoral leaves to-morrow the Boca for Patagones.

The Moorgate left Santos to-day bound for this port in ballast.

The Ludgate should to-morrow leave the La Plata port for Rosario to load and also the Brookside for Saint Vincent with grain for orders.

The Italie from Marseilles arrived to-day at Rio and should leave to-morrow morning for this port.

The Homer shifted to-day from No. 1 to No. 3 dock to finish her discharge.

The National Transport Villarino returned from Carmen de Patagonia yesterday after landing the 8th regiment of the Line down there. The Villarino made the voyage in very fine weather; on the 21st of this month she dropped anchor in Patagones. The officers of the 8th regiment entertained their companions of the Villarino at a "carne con cuero". The Villarino brings up eight first-class passengers and 200 tons of salt and a few bales of wool.

The fast torpedo-catcher Espora is in readiness in the Darsena, where she looks brand new after repairs and paint. She is under orders to take Colonel Manuel Garcia, Chief of the Naval Staff, down to Golfo Nuevo where the fleet is at present manœuvring. She will not start for the South till after the 2nd February, in fact after the formalities of transfer of the Presidential insignia in the Government House. The Espora could run down to Golfo Nuevo in 38 hours; putting steam on; she could run into San Blas Bay easily in 30 hours. The Chief of the Staff intends calling at the latter port on his return from Golfo Nuevo and will personally inspect the advantages of the harbor as a port of refuge for the fleet or as a permanent coaling station.

The little National gun-boat Azopardo is ready in the Darsena to start for the Straits of Magellan; her decks have been fitted up with horse boxes, which make her look smaller than ever. She does not look like a craft to weather the South Atlantic. She takes thirty horses down for the Limits Commissioners; they (the horses) run a serious risk of being washed overboard.

The petition now being signed by exporters of live-stock, though it may be objected to by certain shipping-agents who lack sufficient fore-sight to recognize their own interests, will if acceded to by Government go far to prevent the disastrous results recently obtained from some shipments of stock. It stands to reason that if an animal is badly tended on the voyage, owing to the overcrowding of fittings and consequent practical impossibility to water and feed it properly, it must be sold in England at an unfavourable price. Anything that tends to such a resnlt must injure the trade and consequently Shiping-agents-not to mention the prejudice done to the country. We have too much faith in the good sense of the leading agents to believe for a moment any insinuation that they do not heartily approve of the regulation proposed. Freights can safely be left to themselves, as the agents are not so blind as to insist on killing this Argentine goose which has laid such golden eggs. We regret that time for the moment does not permit us to enlarge on the subject.
